Hörmann Garage Doors Voted Preferred Brand by Builder and Developer Magazine

Hörmann North America announced recently that the Hörmann residential garage door brand is a winner of the 2024 Builder & Developer Magazine Annual Building Products Brand Preference Survey Poll in the Garage Doors Category. The Magazine polled 172,000 of their online and email subscribers from June through October, 2024, which determined their readers' brand preferences. Participants chose from a list of firms in 40 categories.

Builder and Developer Magazine serves the United States homebuilding industry. The monthly publication is read by professional builders, architects, developers, consultants, trade professionals, lumber dealers, and members of the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB). Topics include high-performance home building subjects, architecture planning, interior design, infrastructure, landscape architecture, construction financing, mortgage lending, title insurance, housing economics, and industry news.

The publication will showcase winners in the Annual Awards issue of Builder & Developer in December.
